

1 ABSTRACT

2 A retaining device for a vehicle radar sensor has a housing and fastener.
3 The housing has a chamber to retain the vehicle radar sensor therein. The 4 fastener has a first engagement member to secure with the housing and a second
5 engagement member that allows the retaining device to be attached to one edge
6 of a rear cover of the vehicle without needing to drill a hole in the rear bumper.